Information Sheet: STATUTORY ASSESSMENT

(The Statementing Process)

Points to Note

- A statutory assessment will only be necessary for a small minority of children with severe and or complex special educational needs.
- Once a statutory assessment is requested there are timescales that the Children and Young People's Directorate (CYPD) are advised by the DfES to stick to. If at any stage you feel that CYPD is outside of the time limit you should contact the Special Needs Section and ask them to explain the delay. Tel 0114 273 6394

The following table shows the timescales for each stage of the process.

6 weeks	The CYPD considers the request whether or not agree to Statutory Assessment
10 weeks	The CYPD makes an assessment and decides whether to:  Make a statement or Not make a statement
2 weeks	The CYPD either issues a draft/proposed statement or explains their decision not to issue a statement and send a Note in Lieu
8 weeks	The CYPD sends out the final statement
Total	26 weeks

Who can request a Statutory Assessment?

- The child's school or Early Years setting
- The child's parent or carer

Schools should consult with parents/carers before requesting an assessment. Whilst it is not strictly necessary, it is advisable that parents/carers requesting an assessment should put their request in writing to the CYPD. (SEN Section, Floor 3 Howden House, Union St, Sheffield, S1 2SH.)

What happens next?

- If the CYPD agree to proceed with the assessment, you will receive a letter telling you that the CYPD feels it is necessary to carry out a statutory assessment and inviting you to contribute to the assessment by putting forward your views/evidence within 29 days
- If you agree/disagree with this proposal to assess, you should write to the CYPD and inform them of your decision. If you do not reply within 29 days then the assessment will go ahead.

Who else will be involved?

The CYPD will ask for advice/reports from the following:

School or Early Education Setting

The educational advice must be provided by the school or setting that the child is currently attending. Although, if a child has recently moved, it may be helpful to also request advice from a previous school or setting.

The educational advice must set out how a child's strengths and difficulties could affect his/her educational needs and the provision that is considered appropriate.

Educational Psychologist

The educational psychologist will write a report on the child's strengths and difficulties that they have observed or assessed whilst working with a child. In their advice they will also include details of any assessments they have carried out and the results.

A Medical Officer

If your child's special educational needs are not of a medical nature then you will receive an appointment to attend for a basic medical, probably at a local clinic. When you receive this appointment it is extremely important that you keep the appointment. If you are unable to, then make contact as soon as possible and rearrange it. If you fail to keep three appointments you will not be sent any more. This will hold up the assessment process.

Social Care Services

This request is standard practice and sometimes causes parents who are not already involved with Social Care Services some concern. If you do not have a social worker allocated, Social Care Services will respond to say that they have no knowledge of the family. They will not make contact with the family.

Parents/Carers

You know your child best and therefore your contribution is invaluable about what you think your child's difficulties are and how best they can be met. Also, your child will behave differently at home compared with in school or with another professional. It is important that the CYPD have a full picture of your child. If you, as a parent, have any information or other reports that you wish the CYPD to take into account, then you could send them in.

NB If your child has attended or is attending Ryegate Children's Hospital, you need to remember that the CYPD will not automatically get a copy of any report written by Ryegate. These reports usually are very detailed and provide useful information. If you wish the CYPD to consider this information as part of your child's statutory assessment then you should send a copy of the report to the SEN Section.

You should receive a written copy of everyone's advice that is sent to SEN section as part of your child's assessment.

What happens when all the reports are in?

The CYPD will look at all the reports submitted and decide whether or not they will issue a Statement.

If the CYPD feels that your child has special educational needs but that they can be met by the school, they will send you a Note-in-Lieu. A Note-in-Lieu still acknowledges that your child has special educational needs and how best their needs can be met, what it doesn't provide is any resources additional to the school's input.

If you are not happy then you should contact the SEN Section and ask for a meeting to discuss your concerns. You also have a right to appeal to an independent Special Needs Tribunal. For a booklet detailing how to do this, call:

 SEN Tribunal:
 Tel: 01325 392 555

 SEN Section:
 Tel: 0114 273 6394

 Parent Partnership Service:

If the CYPD decide to issue a statement of special educational needs they will send you the document in a draft form called a Proposed Statement. The proposed statement will not name a school in it. This is because as a parent, you have the right to express a preference for which school you wish your child to attend.

You have 15 days to make any comments and express a preference. If you disagree with any of the proposed statement you should contact the SEN section to discuss this further. If you would feel better speaking face-to-face, then you should request a meeting to talk about your concerns.

If you do not respond within 15 days, the CYPD will assume you agree with the proposed statement and issue it as a Final Statement.

What is a Statement of Special Educational Needs?

This is a legal document, which is divided into six parts:

- Part 1 gives the name and address of parent and child.
- Part 2 – a brief description of all of your child's special needs. This should enable anybody reading this section to get an idea of the child and their difficulties.
- Part 3 – this section describes the special help required to help your child's needs that are described in part 2.
- Part 4 – this will contain the name of the school or provision your child is to attend.
- Part 5 – this section contains details of any non-educational provision your child may require, such as transport.
- Part 6 – consists of copies of all of the reports collected as part of the assessment.

Basically, the Statement is a summary of all the advice and information collected during the assessment process so that anyone reading it will immediately get a 'picture' of the child and an idea of what the child's difficulties are.

What if I disagree with the statement?

If you are not happy about your child's statement, contact the SEN section. You can do this in several ways:

- Put your concerns into a letter. (SEN Section, Floor 3, Howden House, Union St, Sheffield, S1 2SH)
- Telephone the SEN section and speak to your named Casework Officer
- Telephone and ask for an appointment to meet with the Casework Officer to discuss your concerns. (0114 273 5718/5669)

What if you can't agree?

The SEN section will always try and resolve any differences. If, however, despite meetings, it is not possible to come to an agreement, you have the right of appeal to an independent SEN tribunal.
